

THE TABLEY TEA ROOM

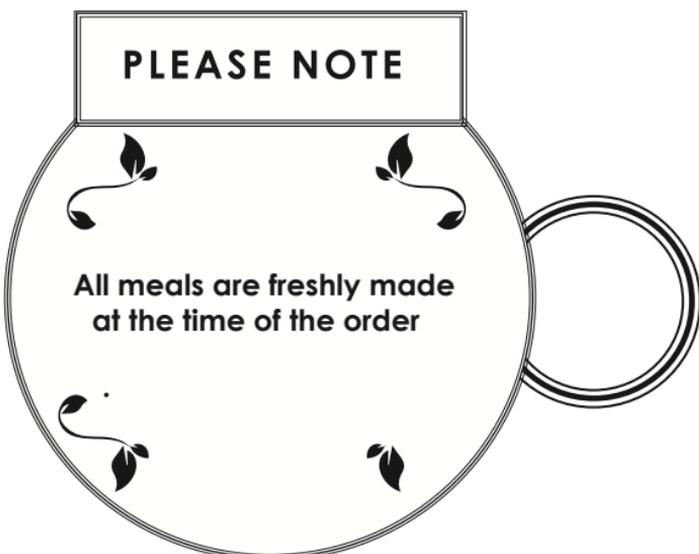

Tabley Tea Room is full of character and history. Originally called the Old Hall Room, it was built in 1929 by Cuthbert Leicester-Warren to connect the 17th Century Chapel to the Grade I listed Tabley House. The Chapel had been moved from a moated island on the estate to its current position in 1927 to save it from brine subsidence, whilst the 14th Century Tabley Old Hall which was also on the island suffered a complete collapse.

Fortunately some items from Tabley Old Hall were saved and can still be seen in the Tea Room today. The fireplace surround dates from 1610 and with its symbolic wood carvings, provides a dramatic focal point. The many stain glass windows reflect centuries of history from past monarchs to members of the Leicester family, the original owners of Tabley.

TABLEY TEAROOM COLLECTION

The Tabley House Collection is housed in the finest Palladian mansion in Cheshire. The estate was home to the Leicester family for 700 years, until the mid 1970's. Their legacy includes some of the finest art, furniture and books that money could buy, as well as a fascinating family history.

Tabley House Collection welcomes individual and group visitors, and is renowned for its knowledgeable and friendly guides and volunteers.

Tabley House is a licensed venue for Civil Weddings, providing grand yet intimate surroundings for that special day. The state rooms, Chapel and tea rooms, have also been used for several film and TV productions.

Here are just a few of the comments from our visitors:

'What a wonderful place, fantastic paintings, and very informative guides'

'A fascinating visit, packed with lots of historical intrigue'

'Lovely atmosphere, and lots to see'
